PARK IN PERFECT SHAPE FOR WORLD CHAMPIONS

Thanks to the effective work of Parkkeeper Joe Husler, Connie Mack and his Athletics will find the playing field at Broad Street Park in perfect condition when they arrive for the game Friday afternoon. A corps of men has been kept constantly at work on the plat, and the united efforts have told. Fortunately, the weather man has been good enough to help, and a warm sun has completely dried out the effects of a belated snowstorm. When the fans arrive at the park to watch the world champions, they will find everything in prime condition. Rollers have been used on the greensward with telling effect, and the diamond should be in quite as good condition as it will be any time during the playing season.

Secretary Bradley announces that there will be no increase in prices. The same scale charged during the league season will obtain. Following the Athletics, the New York Americans, in charge of Business Manager Arthur Irwin, will drift this way for two contests. The first will be Saturday and the second on Monday. Following is the line-up for the two exhibition games as announced by Manager Irwin: Maisel, 3b; Hartzell, 2b; Walsh, If; Williams, 1b; Holden, cf; Gilhooley, rf; Peckinpaugh, ss; Sweeney, Gossett and Reynolds, c; Cole, Caldwell, Warhop, Fisher and Keating, p.

Manager Ryan Anxious to Give Southpaws a Trial

Any young man who has been endowed by nature with a strong left arm, and who desires to exercise his port fin by pitching the elusive pellet, should apply to Manager Ray Ryan, of the Richmond baseball club. Manager Ryan is anxious to get a line on the local crop of portonys, in the hope that he may find one or two worthy of his serious attention. All that is necessary is to report at the hall yard, and a uniform will be furnished. Even should the youngsters just miss making good, they will get considerable practice, for there are four left-handed hitters on the local club—Raley, Berger, Ryan and Woerth—who are willing to take a peek at their slants. APRIL 1, 1814.

Effective April 1, 1914, Southern Railway will abandon its present passenger trains at Fourteenth and Mill Streets, and operate all of its passenger trains into and out of Main Street Station. Coincident with this change of depots there will be minor changes in ferrivals and departures of certain Southern Eallway trains at and from Suthern Bailway trains at and from Suthern Bailway trains at and from Silven later.

Sufficient Subscriber Equipment

TT IS difficult to render an individual or firm the best grade of telephone service if the subscriber will not install sufficient equipment to take care of his telephone traffic.

If a merchant has only one line to his store and the volume of incoming calls makes a second line necessary and desirable, it is not the fault of the Telephone Company that his line is frequently reported "busy."

If a large store has more than one line but no private switchboard to connect these lines, it is not the fault of the Telephone Company that customers of that store experience difficulty in trying to reach some particular department.

If the telephone in the home is in one part of the house and the members of the family usually in another, and there are no extension stations, it is not the fault of the Telephone Company that a party calling has to wait so long for an answer.

Sufficient subscriber equipment is, therefore, sufficient lines to the central office to handle the volume of telephone traffic and sufficient stations in the store, office or home to distribute it properly.

Affairs in Better Shape Than Ever Before in History of Local Organized Amateur Baseball-Eight Leagues Under Protection.

second and by the committee recently appointed by President Julien H. Hill were formally adopted and printed copies furnished to the presidents of the several leagues for distribution, among the players. Never within the history of organized amateur baseball in Richmond have the affairs of the organization been in such good condition. Herefore the leagues have been backward, and the final days before opening the season have been crowded with a world of details to be attended to in a hurry. This season geledales have been sent in promptly, and as promptly ratified by the commission.

An agreement, final and definite, was entered into with Secretary Bradley, of the local professional club, by which the local WALLES THE STATE OF THE STATE O

New York, March 24.—The international committee of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association issued a statement to-night cailing attention to the fact that it had not yet announced the clubs where the matches for the Davis cup will be played. To end misleading speculation, the committee says it considers best to postpone a decision until it is definitely known what matches will be played in this country.

PALACE DUCKPIN TOURNAMENT

The management of the Palace Alleys will run for the first time in this city a duckpin tournament, running under the same order and classification as the last tenpin tourney held in this city.

The classification will be A, B and C. Class A means an average of 95 and over; B class means un average of 50 to 94; C class means an average of 50 and below. Entry fee, $1 for each event.

For entry blanks and information call or write Managers R. N. Rowsey or C. L. Cosby, of the Falace Alleys.

The tourney will open April 10, entries close April 7 at midnight. There have been quite a few entries already received, and they are expected to come in fast this week.

Marlin, Tex., March 24.—The Giants will bid farewell to Marlin to-morrow, immediately after the farewell game between the regulars and the "rookies." The first team will leave for Galveston, under the command of Manager McGraw, while the recruits, led by Mike Donlin, break camp and start for Austin a few hours later.

The two teams will not be together again until they meet in Baltimore on April 12, from which point they continue the trip northward in company.

Bob Bescher has practically recovered from his sprained ankle, and will accompany the regulars.
